

The Aaron Margulies Jewish Farming Fellowship

Become an *Aaron Fellow. Join us at Pushing the Envelope Farm for a summer program for young Jewish adults ages 18 and up that combines sustainable organic farming, social justice activities, and text-based study exploring the deep agrarian roots of Judaism. Fellows will learn, work, and live at the farm, located in Geneva, Illinois.

As an Aaron Fellow, you will build skills and a knowledge base in the areas of

- Sustainable Organic Farming & Gardening Practices
- Environmental Education
- Food Justice

2015 Fellowship Dates

June 21 - August 2 (dates are flexible)

Fees

The cost of the Fellowship is $600, and includes room, board, and educational programming. Financial aid is available for those qualified applicants.

Please Note

Prior experience in farming is NOT required to apply for the fellowship.

To Apply

To apply, please send a resume and letter of interest to: genevafarm@gmail.com

For more information on Pushing the Envelope Farm, please visit our website at <http://www.pushingtheenvelopefarm.org>

*The fellowship is in memory of Aaron Margulies, who completed his studies at Mikve Israel, the first agricultural school in Israel, in 1900 and the National Farm School in Doylestown, Pennsylvania in 1902. His vision of a world restored through agriculture guides us to this day.